Review of the Market.

July 11 .- Prices still declining from our last quoations, and during the week, some considerable sales of staple processes and other articles have been effected at prices far below cost.

Holders generally seem disposed to clear their present stock, by forced sales, in anticipation of the great number of cargoes expected during this and next months. The capacity of our market has been greatly over-estimated by many persons abroad and even at home, in consequence of the large sales at extravagant rates, made here during the past year, caused principally by the first influx of California gold upon our shores, and which was so readily exchanged not only for our Potatoes, Sugar, and other products, but for many articles of merchandise at that time wanted in California markets. Crowds of successful gold hunters had the season previous, spent their thousands in our midst, to small portion of which circulated among the naives, who, finding themselves so suddenly enriched, ared for nothing, but indulging their capricious fancies in the most extravagant manner.

Goods became scarce. Cargo after cargo went off rapidly as soon as arrived, and at such enormous ates as to induce all sorts of miscellaneous and adly selected shipments, not only from former urces, but from Sydney, China, and even San

The reaction which is already evident, and which ist soon become so very great, is not at all surprising when the present over-stock with some assorted cargoes now on the way, (three of which are overdue) is taken into consideration. Saies during the week, at Auction .- Inferior
